

CONGRESSMEN VIEW HARBOR

Great enthusiasm is felt in Redwood City since the visit of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress to this city to inspect the harbor here and the possibility of recommending a government appropriation. The committee, headed by Congressman S. J. Hays, was brought from San Francisco by local men, and were given a tour of the harbor by the local committee. They were taken to the site of the Emerald Lake Golf course, where a wonderful view of the harbor was obtained. After taking a lunch break, they were brought to the city, and after having been shown through the grounds of the Sequoia Union High School, they went to the city hall. The committee was very impressed with the possibilities of the harbor, and expressed surprise at the water development had not been made here in the past by the federal and state governments. They said one member of the committee, an entirely artificial harbor, was a natural harbor site. The congressional party inspected the site of the Pacific Portland Cement Company here, and afterwards visited a government tug at the city wharf, where they were taken to inspect conditions on the side of the bay. A striking example of the need of water development here was given by the congressional party when they took a tour across the bay, where a ship was loading cement at the wharf. The party was given a tour of the cement plant, where they watched the loading operations as well as the dredging work of the bottom of the bay. In the evening the party was given a tour of the city by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce at the Palace Hotel. Congressman Charles Lambert, who represented the city as well as in conducting the party down the peninsula.

Chief Collins to Chase Airmen

According to present indications Chief of Police Collins may have need for the development of a pair of wings to assist him in chasing obnoxious airmen up in the clouds. That is if the board of trustees can figure out a way in which it can be done. The matter was started Monday evening when Trustee Monteth brought up an objection to a motion picture in just missing the chimney tops of Redwood City houses.

The board on a motion of Trustee George McNulty asked City Attorney Mansfield to draw up an ordinance to prevent the airmen from flying below a certain height. But when asked how they were to be made to observe the ordinance, the board wisely observed that that was a matter for the police department.

Obviously "Mickey" Collins was not built to coveit with wings among the clouds, so it may be up to the board to supply him with a car in which he may, like Elijah, ascend to heaven on high.

LOCAL OCTOGENARIAN TO BE FETED TODAY

Today Mrs. Catherine Stevens, Redwood City pioneer, will celebrate the eightieth birthday at her cosy home at 425 Heller street. Many friends will call to pay their respects and to wish her many more years of usefulness.

Mrs. Stevens was born in Wool Hampton, Berkshire, England, on October 10, 1845. She came to California in 1862, where she was a native of Germany and 78 years of age.

Mrs. Stevens was the wife of the late August Schaffer and mother of Charles A. and Frederick Schaffer, Mrs. Martha Smith and Mrs. Aurelia Deasy, and grandmother of Anastasia Smith and Jerome Smith. She was a native of Germany and 78 years of age.

Mrs. Stevens was always active in church, taking a deep interest in the Baptist denomination. Rev. Buckbee was the pastor of the local Baptist church in the early years. He was also rector of a Baptist church in San Francisco, of which she was a devout attendant. At Redwood City S. G. Stevens never missed the Sunday service, he too, was a church worker. The pastor saw where he could unite these two young people, whose ideals, tastes and religious fervor were similar. Mrs. Stevens was invited by the pastor to attend services in Redwood City one Sunday in the log cabin. After the service she was introduced by the pastor to Mr. Stevens, then a young nurseryman in Redwood City. It was a case of love at first sight for shortly afterwards they were married by Reverend Buckbee in San Francisco, and the very next day came to Redwood City to reside. This was on January 25, 1882. Although they were born within a mile of each other in far off England, Cupid did not use his dart until the young couple arrived on the brink of the broad Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens lived in happiness and contentment here until Mr. Stevens' death in 1904. He was the first nurseryman on the peninsula, having established himself on an acre of land on Broadway, close to the highway in 1868. Here he was given to the nursery business, and in front of the grammar school were donated by Mr. Stevens and the other palms on the street were grown by the old pioneer. Some time ago the land was given to the city and the building a standard derrick, 72 feet high and will use heavy pipe and equipment throughout.

FORMER REDWOOD RESIDENT BURIED HERE THIS WEEK

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Congregational church for Mrs. Julia Schaffer, a former resident of this city, who passed away at her home in San Francisco last Tuesday. Mrs. Schaffer left Redwood City about twenty-five years ago, following the death of her husband. Prior to that time the family had lived here for many years and were among the best known of the pioneer residents of this section.

Mrs. Schaffer was the wife of the late August Schaffer and mother of Charles A. and Frederick Schaffer, Mrs. Martha Smith and Mrs. Aurelia Deasy, and grandmother of Anastasia Smith and Jerome Smith. She was a native of Germany and 78 years of age.

MISS PORTER AND LISLE WINTER WED

It is generally understood that if the salesman has confidence in his product that his sales will be many. This may account for the rapid rate at which marriage licenses are sold at the office of County Clerk Elizabeth M. Kneese, for the clerk in her office certainly has faith in the product they sell. In fact they buy them themselves.

Miss Georgia Porter, who for the last two years has been assisting Dan Cupid in his archery, assisting with such good effect too, that it seems at times as though the little fellow has forsaken his classical bow for a machine gun, has demonstrated her entire confidence in the licenses which she has been issuing by buying one herself.

This is not an uncommon thing in this office, as it only a few months since Gene Cerul tried one of the home-made licenses, and in only a short while before that Mrs. Kneese herself sampled one of her licenses. With such confidence among the sellers of licenses, it is no wonder that they sell very fast.

The one which Miss Porter had made out for herself was issued last Friday and was for herself and Lisle Winter. On Saturday morning they went to Mt. Carmel church and were there married by Father C. E. Kennedy after which a nuptial mass was celebrated. After the ceremony they left for the southern part of the state for a honeymoon which is expected to continue for two weeks.

Mrs. Winter is a well-known local girl, having made her home here for a number of years. She has been in the office of the county clerk for the past two years and before that was employed in the office of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company for several years. She is extremely popular and her many friends wish her happiness in her married life.

Mr. Winter is the son of Mrs. Mary and the late Joseph Winter. He is a graduate of the local schools and is following the profession of civil engineer for a number of years. He is at present connected with the office of City Engineer C. D. Dimmitt in the department of public works of the city and has an enviable reputation.

Fire Prevention Week

THIS week, October 7 to 7, has been declared fire prevention week, and during this week schools, fire departments and civic organizations are helping to impress upon the public the importance of fire prevention. In this country, particularly, the loss by fire is enormous. The value of the property consumed by fire in the United States during every minute of the day and night would enable the average family to live comfortably for a year. This property is lost, not a trace of its value is left, and not only the owners of the destroyed property, but the nation as a whole is impoverished to that extent.

Fire is caused more by carelessness than by any other means. The lighted match and the burning cigarette have caused more damage to property in the United States than all other causes together. Such loss is avoidable and unnecessary. By the annual institution of Fire Prevention Week it is sought to educate the people away from such carelessness. If this is not accomplished, perhaps laws will have to be adopted here such as have been in vogue in Europe for many years.

It may become necessary to supplement the extensive fire prevention work of fire insurance companies, co-operating with many civic bodies, by the widespread enactment and enforcement of personal liability acts, such as already exist in some of our cities. If the man who caused fire by his carelessness or negligence were looked upon, not as an unfortunate, but as one guilty of misdemeanor and subjected to a fine, as he is under the Napoleonic law, doubtless we would all be more heedful.

Fire Prevention Week will be observed nationally from October 7 to 10. It is safe to predict that there will be fewer fires during this week than normally. In stead of dropping back into our old habit of "fire carelessness," at the end of the week, why not continue fire prevention as a national habit?

The Town And The Future

OCCASIONALLY we are called—down by someone who thinks we are too optimistic in regard to the future of Redwood City. In such cases we consider the source and let the matter pass, for in spite of a few who console themselves for not having been awake to the great possibilities of the past, by looking through smoked glasses at the future, the future is taking care of itself and will continue to do so.

Redwood City is going to develop beyond the greatest fancies of the dreamers of a decade ago. Ten years ago very few could have foreseen even the Redwood City of today. And yet, we believe, this city will experience a growth in the future which will be without parallel in the past.

There has been no inflation or "boom" in Redwood City development. It is a healthy, substantial growth, founded upon sound industrial development. It is from this fact that we draw our inferences of coming expansion. We look for a greater change in the next five years than we have seen in the last ten or even twenty years, and we believe it enough to think any one who cannot see it our way, wrong.

A Two-Sided Town

THERE are two sides to every question, it is often said, and sadly enough, there are often two sides to a town, an east side and a west side, an old town and a new town; an upper town and a lower town—it makes little difference what names are applied the result is always the same, pin-headed politics. What one side of town favors, the other side is sworn to oppose and vice versa.

Redwood City has always been marvelously free from this purblind form of community jealousy, but even here it crops out occasionally when least to be expected; and is therefore the more noticeable. We hear rumors occasionally that because opening Broadway through Main street will help the territory in the eastern side of town that the west side should oppose it solidly, or that because it will aid Broadway merchants that Main street merchants should oppose it. It's just rumor. If it were more than that we might be tempted to use language too strong for publication.

But as it is mere rumor let us say that we consider such an attitude more foolish even than the proverbial cutting off one's nose for spite of one's face. Every part of the town must develop. To hinder one part means retarding the whole.

Until the people on one side of town realize that their interests are as inseparably tied up with the other side of town as though they lived across the tracks, the town will not be what it should or could be, no matter what may be its progress.

We know a town, not many miles from here, which developed the west side and east side question so strongly that it did not have a paved street until about two years ago, and that town is now a suburb of a much younger village which had community interest and developed.

Broadway must be cut through for the good of the town as a whole, not for the people east of Main street or for the Broadway merchants. Their gain will be incidental to the community benefit. What must be done is to break the barrier which today limits the development of the town as a whole.

Public Accepts Telephotography

The public in general has accepted the telephotograph no longer as a mystery but as one of the practical marvels of science. The everyday use of the telephotograph in the transmission of pictures of news events throughout the country, of police photographs, and of advertising layouts, has caused it to be accepted now as an every day occurrence but according to J. D. Worthington, manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company here, the majority of the people have no idea as to just how it goes.

In a booklet published by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company entitled "The Magic of Communication," written by John Mills, a clear and concise description of the operation of the telephotograph is given. It says: "The picture to be transmitted is first copied photographically on a transparent film. Through this film a very intense beam of light is arranged to shine. Then, of course, the light must be provided which will enable the light, as it changes in brightness when passing successively through the light and dark portions of the film, to cause electric signals. These signals may in turn be transmitted either over a telephone line or by radio.

"The ingenious device by means of which the beam of light can transmit its variations in brightness into variations in strength of an electric current is known as a photo-electric cell. This cell is a vacuum tube of a special sort. In the photo-electric cell a very clean surface of an alkaline metal is exposed to the beam of light, after it has traversed the film. The action of the light in connection with the clean metal surface is to cause the metal to emit electrons in an amount which is strictly proportional to the intensity of the light. A clear or white area in the picture from a large number of electrons and a dark or black area a small number. These emitted electrons are attracted to a plate and form a current of electricity through the external connecting wires; and, of course, variations in this current are exact copies of the variations in the brightness of a beam of light. At the receiving end of the line the operation is just reversed in that the varying electric current generates small variations in a beam of light, this light in turn acting upon an unexposed photographic film. It is obvious that immediately good black and white photographs can be sent any other kind of picture which can be recorded as a black and white picture or as a series of such pictures can also be sent. Among such, for instance, are stereoscopic photographs. Marked success has also been attained in transmitting colored photographs.

Linon and Cotton

An easy way to tell whether a piece of material is linen or cotton is to set one of the threads on fire. If it is cotton it will blaze up and continue to burn. If it is linen it will smolder. Another and even simpler way is to wet the finger in the material and place it under the cloth. If the moisture comes quickly through, the cloth is linen.

HORTICULTURAL REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER

The customary annual census of the vegetable industry of the county has just been completed and the following is the acreage devoted to the various crops: artichokes, 4768; peas, 1563; tomatoes, 1232; potatoes, 1014; cabbage, 997; cauliflower and broccoli, 949; horsebeans, 721; lettuce, 609; sprouts, 522; green corn, 245; string beans, 151; dried beans, 134; carrots, 105; turnips, 102; beets, 62; onions, 62; celery, 54; squash, 48; garlic, 39; miscellaneous, 102; a total of 13,467 acres which is an increase over 1924 of 860 acres.

Market conditions necessarily affect the acreage planted to the different kinds of vegetables and there is a surprising variation from year to year. As an example, a comparison of the figures for 1924 and 1925 shows an increase of 972 acres of tomatoes, 400 of artichokes, 326 of potatoes, and 89 acres of sprouts. On the other hand there were 500 acres less of cauliflower, 400 of peas and 223 acres of lettuce this season.

The above crop acreage has been obtained, as far as possible, directly from the growers but in some instances it has been necessary to make an estimate. When this has occurred we have placed the estimate at a little less than what we thought the crop actually was, so if there is any error it is on the conservative side.

The total inspection of nursery stock for the month has been 70 shipments of 10,111 plants of which 52 shipments of 7575 plants were from within the state.

I wish to warn prospective planters that an infestation of white pine blister rust has been recently discovered in the State of Oregon. Pending investigation of the extent of the infestation, no five-leaf pines or plants and cuttings of currants and gooseberries, will be admitted into California from Oregon. This is in addition to the quarantine already established against other states.

Respectfully submitted,
A. W. TATE, JR.,
Horticultural Commissioner, San Mateo County.

KIWANIS HEAR OF MINISTER'S TRAVELS

Members of the Redwood City Kiwanis club were entertained last Tuesday with a story of the trip which Rev. R. J. Currie and Mrs. Currie recently took through the eastern states and Canada. The local people had many interesting and unusual experiences, and Rev. Currie told of his trip in an exceedingly interesting manner.

The Kiwanis Club voted to change their meeting day from Tuesday to Wednesday, starting next week. This was because the Palo Alto Club and the Burlingame-San Mateo Club both met on Tuesday, thus preventing any visiting between clubs.

On Tuesday evening a large number of the members of the local club will visit the county farm and put on a little entertainment for the inmates of that institution.

MOVIES

"HISTORICAL REALITY" AIM OF CRUIZE FILMING EPIC

The tremendous enthusiasm "The Pony Express" has aroused throughout the country is convincing evidence that James Cruze, the director, has realized his ambition to make a new kind of motion picture—what he terms the "historical reality" as opposed to the conventional "historical romance."

"It was my idea," admitted Cruze, "to have 'The Pony Express' like 'The Covered Wagon'—historically correct. By that I mean not only correct as to the clothes worn and the locale of the scenes, but correct in spirit, in atmosphere and in historical events."

And that he has succeeded in accomplishing that very thing is attested to by the laudatory comments the epic production has evoked not only from inveterate moviegoers and photography critics but from old frontiersmen and such political notables as Vice-President Dawes and Senator Warren of Wyoming, who hail it as a living, breathing historical document.

The story is woven around the efforts of the North and South to control California, the newly discovered land of riches, commanding the commerce of the Pacific just before the outbreak of the Civil War. In this effort the pony express played a vital and dramatic part. Betty Compson, Ricardo Cortez, Ernest Torrence and Wallace Beery are the quartet of featured players.

"The Pony Express" will be shown at the Sequoia Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, October 14-15 with a matinee Thursday afternoon, October 15 at 3:15 P. M.

"HE'S A PRINCE"

When you see Raymond Griffith at the Sequoia Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, October 12 and 13, you'll readily admit, "He's a Prince!" in the picture by the title which heads a high class program.

"He's a Prince!" directed by Edward Sutherland from Keene Thompson's adaptation of the story by Reginald Morris and Joseph Mitchell, is strictly a Griffith story, with Griffith gags and Griffith ideas.

As a young and exceedingly likeable Prince of modern times, Ray, whose life is an endless chain of corner-stone layings, parade reviews, ship christenings, etc., declares a strike for shorter hours and more money. He is informed that his appointment book is filled for months to come. He can't quit, so he decides to run away.

And run away he does, sneaking out of the castle with a party of tourists. Mary Brian is in the crowd and the Prince falls for her right then and there. She pooh-poohs the idea that he is a Prince and Ray chases her all over the country with his love-making, only to be overtaken by his father's Prime Minister, who hands him an official looking document which announces the death of the King.

So back of the palace goes Ray, fidgets through the coronation ceremony wondering why the girl, who had promised to be there, doesn't show up. Through with the King game for good, Ray sets about the business of ducking out from under his crown and ermine robe by arranging with an anarchist who has been agitating for years to dethrone him. Free again, Ray starts after

Mary. This time he wins her. Now that he has the girl of his dreams, he believes his parade-reviewing, uniform-changing days are over, only to discover at the tag end of the picture that he has to do all these things just the same as when he was King—now that he is President of the new republic.

Paramount furnished Griffith with his own special comedy production unit for this one. More power to them.

ICE is your smallest item of expense

Compared to the constant benefits you get from a well-iced refrigerator, the cost of ice is almost trifling. Ice will pay for itself in the food it saves. You get its added benefit at no cost.

Ice keeps your foods pure and wholesome. It is the cheapest form of health insurance you could buy. Stale foods, even before they spoil, are not wholesome, and frequently cause sickness.

The safe way is the economical way—keep your refrigerator filled with ice all the time.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

Plans for a "Father's Night" meeting in November were completed at a meeting of the executive board of the Menlo Park Parent-Teacher Association, held Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. F. S. Hecker. Tentative arrangements were also made for a "Community Night" this month. It was announced that a silk American flag, four feet by six feet, had been purchased for the school by the P-T-A.

The word "realtor" is newly coined and many people do not know its true meaning. A local real estate man was asked the other day to explain the word and give its true definition. Here is the way he gave it: "Real implies actual, true; for means 'built'; hence real built. Most people will consider it a proper definition."

In the death of H. B. Ainsworth of Atherton last week this community has suffered a distinct loss. He was universally loved by all for his kindness, and consideration of others. There were few men like him and the pity of it is that there are not more men of his caliber; the world would surely be a better place for it. Mr. Ainsworth was at the time of his death the vice-president of the Wells Fargo Bank and had resided at Atherton for several years with his charming family. He was wealthy but this did not prevent him from mingling with the lowly and giving freely of his vast wealth to assist others not so fortunate as himself. Such men should have a happy abiding place in the land beyond.

The fire commissioners this week secured from all insurance companies a reduction on policies from June first of ten per cent. All policies will be rebated for that sum from the first of June. This is a big concession and the fire commissioners are deserving of the commendation of the people of Menlo Park in their efforts for the fire district.

C. R. Henshel, the local real estate man, will be united in marriage this evening at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. F. Slinger in Stanford Park to Miss Mary McNeil, a pretty Colorado school teacher, stopping temporarily with friends at Atherton. The Rev. R. P. Smith of the Trinity Episcopal church will perform the ceremony. The young couple have taken apartments in the Slinger building which they will occupy after a brief honeymoon.

A plate glass front is being put in on the corner of the O'Keefe building for H. A. Chandler, the grocer. This improvement will add to the attractive appearance of the building.

On September 20 at Antioch a baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Carlson. This makes the second boy in the family. Mr. Carlson is the manual training teacher of the high school at Antioch.

The parcel of property at Palo Alto bequeathed to Doctor J. L. Ross some years ago by the late William Charles in appreciation for the doctor's kindness to him, was sold last week by the doctor. The price paid for the realty is said to be $22,000. The property in Menlo Park, that was given Mr. Ross is for sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Melbourne Carter celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Monday evening. About 30 persons were present, including the couple's two pretty daughters, to help celebrate the event. Games were enjoyed, dancing indulged in and social converse had until 12 o'clock when delightful refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Carter received the happy felicitations of all for continued health and happiness. The couple has spent the greater portion of their lives in Menlo Park.

Menlo Parlor N. D. G. W. will give a masquerade ball in T. N. T. dancing pavilion on Oak street, near the highway this evening. Costume may be had at Leves, near the Martin plumbing shop and at the pavilion this evening. Seven prizes of value will be awarded the winners. This is the first masquerade to be given in the pavilion, which is one of the largest on the peninsula. Gentlemen $1; ladies in costume free; spectators 50c. Music by the T. N. T. five-piece orchestra. Come and enjoy yourself, but for heaven's sake don't bring Lulu.

The North Palo Alto Sanitary district will hold a bond election on November 3 to raise money in the sum of $18,000 to construct a sewer system for the district which includes all of North Palo Alto and the O'Keefe ranch.

Mother Nature is a wise old lady but this year she is rather cranky. She appears to be working in opposite directions. May be she has taught the human complex in her endeavor to work her subjects overtime. Down in Rummymede the poultrymen are cajoling the old hen to lay two eggs a day by placing electric lights in the henries to fool the hen into believing another day has dawned so she falls for this camouflage and lay her two eggs in 24 hours, much to the benefit of her owner. A beehive near by, seeing this is making arrangements to place tiny lanterns upon the tired backs of the busy bee that they may work at night. He is not satisfied with honey gathered by the bee who at dawn leaves the apiary, going miles away and often into the deep recesses of the mountains to gather sweets from flowers that blush unseen and return late at night heavily laden with honey for its owner, who now wants this busy worker to toil during the long hours of night. Mother Nature appears to have caught this spirit. Her acacia trees are in bloom here at present, after blooming last March. The trees have sent forth their odoriferous flowers twice this year, something unheard of before.

The white oak trees that have been robbed of their verdure by the pesky caterpillar during the past summer are sending forth green leaves at the present time. They too, will produce doubly this year. The old mother is working along similar lines in other vegetation. What will the poet think of the forest of the old lady?

Here is how the poet wrote years ago when Mother Nature was more staid and certain:

And stars to sit; but all, Thou hast all seasons for thine, O Death.

She may change the season for the leaves to fall but she will hardly alter the call of the Grim Reaper.

The Carolan sisters have sold their pretty home at Atherton to Doctor Ross of Palo Alto. She is to occupy the place at once and contemplates many improvements. The home consists of four acres of land, improvements and a fine residence. Dr. Place practices at Palo Alto. The Misses Carolans have gone to Burlingame to reside and where they have considerable holdings.

PALO ALTO

John J. O'Toole, who is campaigning for city attorney of San Francisco, is well known in Menlo Park, where he resided with his family shortly after earthquake. He occupied the McNally cottage on the highway. Mr. O'Toole is an able lawyer, a good citizen and experienced in municipal affairs, having been civil service commissioner of San Francisco for the past ten years. His numerous friends in Menlo Park hope he will make the grade next month.

The accusations by the grand jury of Santa Clara county against Supervisor Charles Cooley are taken lightly here where the supervisor spent his boyhood. Mr. Cooley is an honest, God-fearing man and bears a splendid reputation. It is too bad that it should be tarnished by the character, assassins of the Santa Clara grand jury, made up of Cooley's political enemies in San Jose.

Those who feel down in the mouth should remember Jonah, he came out all right. They should also peruse these beautiful lines of Longfellow: "Be still and heart and cease repining. Behind dark clouds is the sun, still shining. Thy fate is the common fate of all. Into each life some rain must fall. Some days, dark and dreary."

Monday, Mrs. Jay T. Cooper entertained at luncheon a few friends and the officers of the Menlo Park Study Club. Mesdames Anelo, Stentford, Shearer, Hampton, Lam, Hammond, Kurtz, Rogers, Curtis and Miss Ely. Mrs. Curtis of San Jose gave a wonderful talk on the history and landmarks of California, and Mrs. Wm. Moore sang.

Mrs. E. Gardner is quite ill at her home on Fremont avenue.

Mrs. R. Danman of Portland, Oregon, is a guest at Laurel Court. She is here to improve her property on Laurel avenue and Oak Grove. It is for sale.

The T. N. T. Pavilion was opened last Saturday night with a blaze of glory by a ball given by the Menlo Park Fire Department. It was a record attendance. Captain and Mrs. Whitaker lead the grand march, after which appropriate addresses were made by Supervisor John MacBain, Captain Whitaker and Charles Merrill, the popular fire commissioner. Eleven hundred dancers took part in the grand march. Mr. Earle, the owner of the hall, was heartily congratulated for his enterprise in giving Menlo Park such a splendid pavilion.
